

Contents

IV. Library Cave and Dunhuang Manuscripts 047

- 4.1 Discovery of the Library Cave 047
- 4.2 The Largest Collection of Religious Manuscripts 050
- 4.3 The Lost Tang Epic The Lament of the Lady of Qin 055
- 4.4 Various Economic Documents 058
- 4.5 Manuscripts of Shuyi 063
- 4.6 Manuscripts of Topography and Folk Customs 065

I. How Dunhuang Got Its Name 011

- 1.1 Migration of the Tocharian People 012
- 1.2 Legends of Mount Sanwei and Queen of the West 015
- 1.3 Ode to Celestial Steed by Emperor Wu of the Han Dynasty 017

II. The Humanistic Environment of Dunhuang 021

- 2.1 Frontier Establishment and Its Maintenance 022
- 2.2 Farming of the Immigrants 025
- 2.3 The Earliest World Trade Convention 028
- 2.4 Temples, Monasteries and School Education 030

III. Construction of the Mogao Caves 037

- 3.1 Cave Building at Mogao 039
- 3.2 Function of the Caves 040
- 3.3 Structure of the Caves 043

V. Loss of Dunhuang Treasures 073

- 5.1 Merits and Faults of Wang the Daoist Priest 073
- 5.2 Foreign Robbers Coming One after Another 076
- 5.3 Shameful Looting after the Robbery 081
- 5.4 Collections of Dunhuang Cultural Relics 083

VI. Murals in the Mogao Caves 087

- 6.1 Contents of the Murals at Mogao 088
- 6.2 Apsaras of Dunhuang 096
- 6.3 Stylistic Features of the Dunhuang Murals 105

ВАРНЕНСКИ СВОБОДЕН УНИВЕРСИТЕТ
БИБЛИОТЕКА

122400000236

95338

VII. Painted Sculptures of Dunhuang 111

7.1 Types of the Painted Sculpture 111

7.2 Stylistic Features of the Painted Sculpture 115

VIII. Dunhuang Is in China but Dunhuang Studies Is in the World 123

8.1 History of Dunhuang Studies in China 123

8.2 Internationalism Characteristic of Dunhuang Studies 127

A List of Institutions with the Collection of Dunhuang Documents 132

